PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

As you read this issue of Universitas, you will realize that, in many ways, the magazine is devoted to impact.

First, you'll find a special report about the economic impact of Saint Louis University on our St. Louis metropolitan region. Then you'll see a list of SLU's most generous supporters.

Each special report shares an important story about the influence of our great University.

The economic impact study allows us to see how what we do here in Midtown affects the broader St. Louis community. It also offers us some perspective about our significance to the St. Louis metropolitan region and beyond.

In the study, we learn that SLU generated $715.5 million in economic impact and supported more than 6,800 jobs throughout the region in 2011. In fact, $1 in every $176 in the regional economy can be attributed to Saint Louis University, and $1 in every $36 in the general fund of the City of St. Louis is generated by SLU.

But the economic impact study shares more than just the University's influence. It also shows the impact of our alumni. We have more than 114,000 graduates in 139 countries around the world. Not surprisingly, nearly 51,000 alumni live in the St. Louis metropolitan region and contribute significantly to our local economy, services and work force. They are health care professionals and legal experts, educators and scientists, entrepreneurs and engineers.

They also are mothers and fathers with children in schools throughout the region. They are consumers and taxpayers, and they are vital to our community.

How vital?

Well, in dollars, just one of our graduating classes accounts for a future economic impact of $2.7 billion in value during the 40 years following graduation. More importantly, our alumni bring so much to the community through their compassion for their neighbors and those less fortunate, their creativity and desire for culture, and their spirituality and efforts to live with a higher purpose in mind.

And that's one key point this report makes. That, whether on campus or off, whether current students or longtime alumni, we all share a sense of purpose: To serve humanity for the greater good. Indeed, that spirit is manifested in so many ways — volunteerism and charity, teaching and research, bold initiatives and quiet efforts.

Our generous donors are making an impact, too.

Without question, you as our alumni, friends and benefactors are vital to the economic stability and development of our University, our neighborhood, our city, our region and ultimately, our world. Truly, everything we do depends upon having the means to do it.

The honor roll of donors in this issue of Universitas shows the scope of generosity of our alumni and friends. And it speaks to the critical importance of their gifts to our students, to our academic initiatives and to our campus improvements, among many other priorities.

Every gift moves the University forward. Every donation improves the lives of our students. And every financial contribution helps advance our Catholic, Jesuit mission. None of this would be possible without your ongoing support.

After reading this issue, I hope you will be tremendously proud of the impact that Saint Louis University makes in our community every day, and that you will be inspired to make your own impact on our future success.

May God continue to bless you and your loved ones.

L. Biondi S.J.

SLU NAMED TO COMMUNITY SERVICE HONOR ROLL AGAIN

For the sixth consecutive year, SLU is on the President's Higher Education Community Service Honor Roll, the highest federal recognition a school can achieve for its commitment to service and service learning. A recent campus survey found that 84 percent of SLU students volunteer at least once during the year, which is well above the national average of 60 percent. Nearly half are regular volunteers, providing service multiple times a month.

SLU EARNS HONORS FOR CAMPUS TREE PROGRAM

SLU has been recognized as a 2012 Tree Campus by the Arbor Day Foundation. Launched in 2008, the national program honors colleges and universities and their leaders for promoting healthy trees and engaging students and staff in the spirit of conservation. As part of this effort, 111 new trees were planted on the St. Louis campus in 2012.

RESEARCH ROUND-UP

NIH GRANT FOCUSES ON LUPUS FUNCTIONS, MEDICATIONS

Two SLU researchers have received a $1.8 million grant from the National Institutes of Health to study the physiological and biochemical functions in lupus and develop possible new medications for its treatment.

Lupus, a chronic inflammatory disease, occurs when the body's immune system produces antibodies that attack its own tissues and organs, and affects different parts of the body including kidneys, blood cells, brain, heart and lungs. Dr. Terry Moore (Med '72), director of rheumatology, and Dr. Anil Chauhan, associate professor in the division of rheumatology, will lead the study.

"If we develop a new drug, it will really help patients," Chauhan said. "In the last 30 years there has been only one successful new drug for lupus; we need many more alternative therapies."

MELLON FOUNDATION GRANT TO AID SCHOLARLY WORKS

SLU has received a two-year, $933,000 grant from the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation to support software development of a tool for editing scholarly works. Dr. James Ginther, director of the Center for Digital Theology and professor of medieval theology, will lead the project.

The grant will fund the development and implementation of a web-based application that will assist scholars in creating and publishing scholarly digital editions. In addition, the grant will fund six editing projects.

"Scholarly editing in the digital world is not just about using a computer," Ginther said. "A digital editing tool allows for scholars around the world to share both their data and findings."

NIH GRANT TO TEST SCREENING OF RARE GENETIC DISORDERS

SLU researchers have received a five-year, $2.5 million National Institutes of Health grant to test a new method of screening newborns for a group of rare but serious genetic disorders that affect approximately 200 U.S. babies each year.

Developed at SLU, the proposed screening will use dried blood samples routinely taken at birth to test for Mucopolysaccharidoses (MPS) disorders, which include Morquio, Hunter and Sly Syndromes. In nearly all cases, the disease is fatal, with an average life expectancy of 10 to 20 years if untreated.

Principal investigator Dr. Adriana M. Montañó, associate research professor of pediatrics, said that one challenge is diagnosing the disease before it progresses too far. Most MPS patients are asymptomatic at birth, and are not diagnosed until they are 4 to 5 years old.

SLUMA EXHIBITION Urban Wanderers

From March 22 through May 5, the Saint Louis University Museum of Art is presenting "Urban Wanderers," featuring artwork inspired by abandoned or abused companion animals that have received a second chance from Stray Rescue of St. Louis. Paintings, photographs, sculptures and more will be displayed and available for online auction.

SLUMA's hours are 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Wednesday through Sunday. For more information, visit sluma.slu.edu.

MOCRA EXHIBITION BLOOD/SPIRIT

Through May 12, the Museum of Contemporary Religious Art is presenting "BLOOD/SPIRIT," an installation by artist Jordan Eagles. For more than a decade, Eagles has garnered attention for using animal blood in his art. He combines blood with Plexiglas, UV resin, copper, gauze and other materials to produce works that challenge his audiences.

MOCRA's hours are 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday. For more information, call 314-977-7170 or visit mocra.slu.edu.

NEWS BRIEFS

Dr. Robert Belshe, director of SLU's Center for Vaccine Development, has been appointed to the National Institutes of Health's main advisory panel on allergies and infectious diseases. Belshe, the Dianna and J. Joseph Adorjan Endowed Professor of Infectious Diseases and Immunology at the School of Medicine, will serve on the National Advisory Allergy and Infectious Diseases Council for four years.

In November, Saint Louis University signed a letter of intent with American Community School in Athens, Greece. In summer 2013, SLU will host a Summer Leadership Discovery Institute for ACS Athens high school students at the St. Louis campus.

John Waide (A&S '73), University archivist in the University libraries special collections, will receive the 2013 Fons Sapientiae (Seat of Wisdom) Award from the Greater St. Louis Chapter of the Catholic Library Association. A SLU library staff member for 38 years, Waide has been University archivist since 1989. This award recognizes his use of original archival sources for historical research and his knowledge of the history of SLU and of St. Louis.

Dr. James R. Kimmey, professor and executive-in-residence at the School of Public Health and former founding president and CEO of the Missouri Foundation for Health, received the 2013 Grantmakers In Health's Terrance Keenan Leadership Award in Health Philanthropy. The award honors those whose work is distinguished by leadership, innovation, achievement, creativity, risk taking and boldness.

Dr. Sharon Frey, clinical director of SLU's Center for Vaccine Development and professor of infectious diseases, allergy and immunology, was honored as one of the YWCA's Leaders of Distinction in December. The YWCA recognized Frey for her accomplishments as an educator who shapes the next generation of physicians and mentors junior medical school faculty at SLU.

Dr. Paaige Turner, an associate professor in the department of communication, is a Fulbright-Nehru International Education Administrators Seminar awardee. She traveled to India in March, where she attended seminars at universities and colleges, and visited research institutions and non-governmental organizations that could serve as sites for U.S.-Indian higher education collaborations and exchanges.

Dr. Ellen Harshman (Grad '78, Law '92), dean of the John Cook School of Business, is the University's interim vice president for academic affairs. She has served in a number of leadership roles since joining SLU in 1972, including senior vice provost.

GLOBAL NURSING PROGRAM RECEIVES INTERNATIONAL RECOGNITION

A global education initiative at the School of Nursing is receiving a Special Recognition for "internationalizing the profession" from the Institute of International Education for its efforts to extend the opportunity for SLU nursing students to study abroad.

SLU launched an international nursing program in 2003, offering courses at the Madrid Campus that help fulfill the degree requirements for the Bachelor of Science in nursing. The program allows both U.S. and international students to work on their nursing degrees for two years in Madrid, then transfer to the St. Louis campus for their last two years of study. While in Madrid, students take specialized courses to develop cultural sensitivity and learn Spanish, and they gain clinical experience in Spanish hospitals and clinics.

The nursing courses taught in Spain mirror those in St. Louis and are closely coordinated between the two campuses. As many as 40 students enroll each semester in the study abroad program, which is the only one in the country that allows nursing students to graduate on time without having to catch up on missed coursework. It is attracting record numbers of students.

Dr. Carl-Gustaf Saluste helps sophomore Megan Rach detect micro-organisms on plates in the Madrid Campus' newly updated microbiology lab.

WOLFF NAMED NEW LAW SCHOOL DEAN

After a national search, the Honorable Michael Wolff is the new dean for Saint Louis University School of Law. A SLU faculty member, Wolff brings an established record of leadership to his new role, having served 13 years on the Missouri Supreme Court and as its chief justice from 2005-07.

Wolff returned to SLU as a faculty member in 2011 after being on the Missouri Supreme Court since 1998. For 23 years before his Supreme Court appointment, he was a professor at SLU. His recent course concentrations have included civil procedure, state constitutional law and legal profession. He also chairs the building committee for the law school's new state-of-the-art facility downtown.

In 2007 Wolff was named "Lawyer of the Year" by Missouri Lawyers Weekly and received the Missouri Bar's Judicial Excellence Award.

BILLIKEN HALL OF FAME WELCOMES NEW MEMBERS

The Saint Louis University department of athletics inducted six individuals and three teams into the Billiken Hall of Fame on Feb. 15 at a ceremony in Busch Student Center.

The Billiken Hall of Fame welcomed its first class in 1976. Since then, more than 250 student-athletes, teams and dignitaries have been selected for induction.

This year's inductees represent four categories.

BILLIKEN GREAT: PIONEER (PRIOR TO 1980)

Mark Schwarz (Baseball, 1975-78): A right-handed pitcher on the Billiken baseball squad from 1975 to 1978, Schwarz pitched a school-record 24 complete games, which is unlikely ever to be broken. He also is tied for fourth all-time with 17 career wins. He ranks in the top 10 in several additional categories.

BILLIKEN GREAT: CONTEMPORARY (1980-PRESENT)

Jason Cole (Men's Soccer, 1999-2002): Cole earned All-Conference honors in each of his four seasons on the men's soccer squad. After playing his first three years as a defender, he moved to forward his senior year and scored 18 goals en route to earning Conference USA Player of the Year honors.

Kelly Ferguson (Women's Soccer, 2002-05): Playing four seasons, Ferguson was a three-time All-Conference selection and an NSCAA Scholar All-America pick. She ranks 10th on the Billikens' all-time scoring list with 20 goals and eight assists. She is a member of the program's All-Decade Team and served as SLU assistant coach from 2007-10.

Shatoya Likely (Women's Basketball, 1994-98): A four-year starting guard, Likely is the program's all-time leading scorer with 1,545 points. She ranks fifth in career scoring average and is fourth all-time in three-pointers made. Likely was named to the Great Midwest Conference All-Newcomer team in 1995, when she averaged 16.9 points per game.

Jamie Perry Pusateri (Women's Soccer, 2001-04): A four-year starter, Pusateri earned All-Conference honors each year. She is the Billikens' all-time leading scorer with 104 points, which includes a program-record 41 career goals and 22 assists. She was the Conference USA Freshman of the Year in 2001 and is on the program's All-Decade Team.

DISTINGUISHED ALUM

Dr. Robert Heidt Jr. (Swimming and Diving, 1969-73): Heidt, who served 27 years as the team physician for the Cincinnati Bengals, is the director of Cincinnati's Wellington Orthopaedic and Sports Medicine. He received the NFL's 2010 Jerry "Hawk" Rhea Award as a distinguished team physician and was a member of the NFL Safety and Rules Committee.

BOB BURNES AWARD

1991 Men's Soccer Team: The 1991 Billikens advanced to the NCAA College Cup semifinal match. SLU posted a school-record 20 victories that season, including a 5-0 record in Great Midwest Conference play that resulted in regular-season and tournament championships.

2005 Women's Soccer Team: The 2005 Billikens won the Atlantic 10 Conference regular-season and tournament titles. They are the first SLU women's team in any sport to earn an NCAA Tournament berth. The squad recorded a school-record 16 victories and was 8-0-0 in the A-10, making it the only SLU women's soccer team with an unblemished conference record.

2006 Baseball Team: The 2006 baseball squad captured the Atlantic 10 Conference tournament title after a memorable run of four wins in five days in the Bronx, N.Y. The Billikens won 32 games — a school record at the time — and made their first NCAA Tournament appearance since 1966.

Men's basketball earns regular-season A-10 championship

For the first time since 1957, the Billiken men's basketball team captured its first outright regular-season title, ending their season at 13 wins and three losses in the Atlantic 10 Conference. Look for more on the team in the next issue of Universitas.

SHIELDS IS NEW WOMEN'S SOCCER COACH

Katie Shields, who most recently was SLU's assistant women's soccer coach, is now the team's head coach. Shields, who came to Saint Louis University last March, succeeded Kat Mertz, who accepted the head-coaching position at Oregon following one season with the Billikens.

Prior to her arrival at SLU, Shields spent two seasons as an assistant coach and recruiting coordinator at Northwestern University. She served three years in the same capacities at her alma mater, Harvard University. Shields began her coaching career with a one-year stint as an assistant at UC Irvine.

"During our search, we engaged in exhaustive communication with National Team coaches, U.S. Soccer officials and NCAA College Cup coaches," said Chris May, director of athletics. "They were unanimous in their support of Katie Shields as a leader who is ready to be a successful head coach."

A goalkeeper, Shields enjoyed a distinguished playing career at Harvard from 2002-05. She garnered All-Ivy accolades all four seasons and was an NSCAA All-Region honoree and team captain her senior year.

Message from the Vice President and Chief Financial Officer

Just five years from now, Saint Louis University will celebrate its bicentennial. Founded in 1818, SLU has shaped the city that shares its name, educating leaders, and investing in the people and places around it.

As a SLU alumnus who began working here in 2009, I have seen what a difference Saint Louis University makes by continually building on its considerable history of education, research, health care and community service. Under the visionary leadership of University President Lawrence Biondi, S.J., Saint Louis University has become a true catalyst for positive change. In the neighborhood, the city and the surrounding area, the University's influence is tangible and quantifiable.

The proof is in the numbers found in this economic impact study:

In one year alone, Saint Louis University has more than $715 million in economic impact on the region.

More than $2 billion in capital improvement projects in the city of St. Louis were funded by the University during the last 25 years, including the Edward A. Doisy Research Center, Chaifetz Arena and a new $30 million project that will bring the University's law school downtown.

More than 6,800 jobs are supported by the University.

These figures impress the accountant in me. But as a vice president at a Jesuit university, I look for something deeper.

Indeed, thanks to SLU, the brightest minds from around the world come to St. Louis and make a life here. Researchers and volunteers improve lives across the globe, as well as in our own neighborhood. And our graduates leave our campus ready to transform their communities.

The influence of Saint Louis University is far greater than just the number of students it attracts, the salaries it pays or the buildings it constructs. SLU's influence lies in the nearly 200-year tradition of believing in this region and striving to make it a better place.

I am pleased to be part of it and to share this study, prepared by the national research firm Tripp Umbach, with you.

David Heimburger (COOK '85)
VICE PRESIDENT AND CHIEF FINANCIAL OFFICER

Introduction

Saint Louis University, a private Catholic, Jesuit institution founded in 1818, ranks among the top research universities in the nation. SLU is the oldest university west of the Mississippi River and the second oldest Jesuit university in the United States. For nearly 200 years, SLU has delivered broad access to undergraduate, graduate and continuing education for students throughout the Midwest, the United States, Madrid, Spain, and the world.

Though its primary missions are education, research, health care and community service, Saint Louis University is also an important contributor to the fiscal health and well-being of the City of St. Louis and the surrounding region. SLU's daily operations provide ongoing financial benefits to the St. Louis economy. The University significantly impacts the economy through expenditures, government revenues and the employment and personal income of residents. Beyond these financial benefits, SLU is preparing the work force of the future and creating a stronger St. Louis region.

This report¹ highlights the economic impact that Saint Louis University has on three areas of the St. Louis Region: the Midtown neighborhood in which the University is located, the City of St. Louis and the overall St. Louis Metropolitan Region. This report underscores the broader impacts that support SLU's mission and contribute to the ongoing success of the University and the health of the St. Louis economy. The economic impact results are rooted in the University's success in education, health care, research and community service affecting nearly every resident in the St. Louis area and bringing countless economic benefits to the overall region.

Economic impact, related to business volume — employment and government revenue — is generated when an organization spends money. Studies measuring economic impact capture the direct economic impact of an organization's spending, plus additional indirect spending in the economy as a result of the direct spending. Economic impact calculations do not include dollars collected such as tuition, revenues, fundraising activities, etc.

The operations of Saint Louis University generate $715.5 million annually in total economic benefit to the St. Louis Metropolitan Region – or approximately $1 in every $176 in the regional economy. The economic impact generated by Saint Louis University is significantly larger than the economic impact generated by other private research universities on their regions. For example, SLU's percent share of total market on the St. Louis Metropolitan Region is more than double the percent share of total market that Georgetown University has on its respective metropolitan region and five times greater than the percent share of total market that Loyola University Chicago has on the Chicago Metropolitan Region (Table 1).

UNIVERSITY	METROPOLITAN REGION	NUMBER OF ENROLLED STUDENTS	SIZE OF ECONOMY (BILLIONS)	STRENGTH WITHIN MARKET	PERCENT SHARE OF TOTAL MARKET
Saint Louis University	St. Louis	14,000	$126	$1 / $176	.5%
Marquette University	Milwaukee	12,000	$93	$1 / $165	.5%
Georgetown University	Washington, D.C.	16,937	$375	$1 / $515	.2%
Loyola University Chicago	Chicago	14,050	$574	$1 / $833	.1%

EDUCATION

The contributions of SLU graduates are critically important to the economic vitality of the St. Louis region. There are currently more than 114,000 SLU alumni living in the United States and in 139 countries around the world, with approximately 50,933 SLU alumni living in the St. Louis Metropolitan Region.

The 3,207 degrees awarded by Saint Louis University in academic year 2010-11 equates to approximately $2.7 billion of future value over 40 years (only counting the graduates from a single year). Even if the value total is adjusted to 80 percent, allowing for the forgone income while attending university, future periods of unemployment, absence from the labor force for child rearing and other life events, the value created is still nearly $2.2 billion annually.

THE OPERATIONS OF SAINT LOUIS UNIVERSITY GENERATE $715.5 MILLION ANNUALLY IN TOTAL ECONOMIC BENEFIT TO THE ST. LOUIS METROPOLITAN REGION – OR APPROXIMATELY $1 IN EVERY $176 IN THE REGIONAL ECONOMY.

1. This study was prepared by Pittsburgh-based Tripp Umbach based on FY11 data. Tripp Umbach is the nation's leading provider of comprehensive economic impact studies for colleges and universities.

PRIVATE RESEARCH UNIVERSITY COMPARISONS

AS THE LARGEST SINGLE DEVELOPER IN MIDTOWN, WITH ADDITIONS TO ITS CAMPUS OF MORE THAN 39 ACRES AND 30 BUILDINGS, SLU HAS SPENT APPROXIMATELY $850 MILLION ON IMPROVEMENTS, ENHANCEMENTS AND EXPANSIONS.

HEALTH CARE

On a regional level, SLU alumni contribute to the work force as physicians, nurses and allied health professionals, such as physical therapists, occupational therapists, dietitians and athletic trainers. In 2011, nearly 170 SLU-educated physicians completed their training and entered the work force, with 90 practicing in the St. Louis Region. The economic impact of these 90 physicians is $135 million — which is in addition to the annual economic impact of Saint Louis University.

RESEARCH

Integral to Saint Louis University's mission of serving humanity, the work of SLU faculty researchers is reshaping the frontier of medicine, science, humanities, and arts and sciences. Whether in the lab or in the field, whether researching cancer or Christian philosophy, liver disease or entrepreneurial strategy, aviation safety or genetics, SLU faculty researchers are transforming their fields of expertise and having a local, national and international impact on future research development and outcomes. The 2011 economic impact of SLU research is $107 million, which is included in the overall economic impact.

COMMUNITY IMPACT

Saint Louis University is a vital economic development partner in the region. During the past 25 years, the University has strategically invested to delineate, develop and beautify its St. Louis campus, serving as a catalyst for economic development in the adjacent Grand Center neighborhood and throughout the city's Midtown area.

Saint Louis University's vitality is a testament to its nearly 200 years of service and commitment to the community, where it has served as an anchor for employment and education.

In addition, SLU has been a symbol of stability and leadership during the past 25 years. As the largest single developer in Midtown, with additions to its campus of more than 39 acres and 30 buildings, SLU has spent approximately $850 million on improvements, enhancements and expansions. Additionally, the University has been directly and indirectly responsible for more than $2 billion in capital improvement projects in the heart of St. Louis, including the $81 million, 10,600-seat Chaifetz Arena on SLU's campus, a new boutique hotel, and numerous market rate housing and retail developments.

During the past two decades SLU has experienced a 12 percent growth in its faculty, an 8 percent growth in its staff and a 20 percent growth in its student enrollment.

SLU contributes to the community by providing well-paying jobs. Saint Louis University supports 6,838 total jobs in the St. Louis Metropolitan Region; one out of every 195 jobs in the St. Louis Metropolitan Region is attributable to SLU. This includes 4,022 people directly employed by the University and 2,816 jobs indirectly attributed to SLU, both full-time and part-time.² The indirect jobs include supply and equipment vendors; information technology vendors; security and temporary employment workers; contractors and laborers for the construction and renovation of University facilities; and staff at hotels, restaurants and retail businesses. Indirect jobs support SLU's workforce and visitors.

The University's employees and students donated $26.3 million in cash and volunteer services in 2011; $14.8 million was donated in cash to local charitable organizations and $11.5 million in value of volunteer services to more than 1,800 organizations and individuals. As a private Catholic, Jesuit institution, the spirit of giving is unmistakably part of SLU's identity, with more than 84 percent of the entire SLU student body volunteering annually.

SLU helps support its community as an important contributor to the local tax base. The spending from SLU operations, employees, students and visitors generated a total of $12.4 million in government revenue for the City of St. Louis — $5.5 million in direct taxes ($4.9 million plus $605,000 in earnings and sales tax) and $6.9 million in indirect taxes related to property, income, unemployment, tourism and hotel rooms.³ Stated another way, $1 in every $36 in the city's General Fund Budget is generated by Saint Louis University.

2. The direct jobs represent those individuals directly employed by SLU based on where they reside. The indirect jobs represent the additional jobs generated at local companies that provide support services to SLU.

3. According to St. Louis city tax records, approximately $605,000 in earnings and sales tax was paid directly by SLU to the City of St. Louis — $302,500, which stayed with the City, and $302,500, which went to the City's TIF account, used solely for economic development. Direct tax payments are paid by SLU directly to a unit of government. Indirect tax payments are calculated based on the amount of business volume generated by the in-area spending of SLU and the spending of SLU employees and visitors. Indirect taxes include those taxes paid directly by employees of the institution, visitors to the institution and vendors who sell products to the institution.

The results presented in Saint Louis University's economic impact study are generated on an annual basis. The economic impact in future years can either be higher or lower, based on the number of students, capital expansion, external research dollars and donor support. The operations of Saint Louis University in 2011 generated $715.5 million in economic impact and sustained more than 6,800 total jobs throughout the St. Louis Metropolitan Region.

PROJECT OVERVIEW

In February 2012, Saint Louis University retained Tripp Umbach to measure the economic, employment and government revenue impacts of operations and research of the entire University. The goals of Saint Louis University's economic impact study included:

A quantification of the economic and employment effects of Saint Louis University. The study focused on three geographies because the University's economic development impacts the Midtown neighborhood; SLU's tax generation primarily impacts the City of St. Louis; and the University's employment and alumni significantly impact the St. Louis Metropolitan Region.

A better articulation of the benefits of this major research institution operating in partnership with its various communities.

A spotlight on the multitude of additional economic and social benefits that the University has on the city and metropolitan area.

METHODOLOGY EMPLOYED IN THE ECONOMIC IMPACT STUDY

This economic impact analysis measures the effect of business volume and government revenue from Saint Louis University's operations on the geographies of Midtown, the City of St. Louis and the St. Louis Metropolitan Region in 2011. Total economic impact measures the dollars that are generated within the geographic areas due to the presence of Saint Louis University. This includes SLU's spending on goods and services with a variety of vendors within the areas and the spending of its staff and visitors, and the business volume generated by businesses within the geographic area supported in part by SLU's spending. It is important to remember that not all dollars spent by SLU remain in the geographic area; for example, purchases from out-of-area vendors are not included in the University's economic impact. The Tripp Umbach economic impact methodology was originally derived from a set of research tools and techniques developed for the American Council on Education (ACE).⁴

The total business volume impact generated by Saint Louis University is comprised of the direct impact and the indirect impact. The direct impact of the University stems from: the expenditures for capital improvements and goods and services; the spending of University employees (staff, faculty, researchers, fellows and medical residents based on salaries); and the spending of students and visitors outside of the University on items such as housing, hotel rooms, etc.

The indirect impact of SLU is derived from these direct, first-round expenditures, re-circulated through the economy in successive rounds of re-spending by local businesses.⁵ Data utilized to conduct the analysis were collected from Saint Louis University, capital and operational expenditures, jobs, payroll and benefits, and taxes.

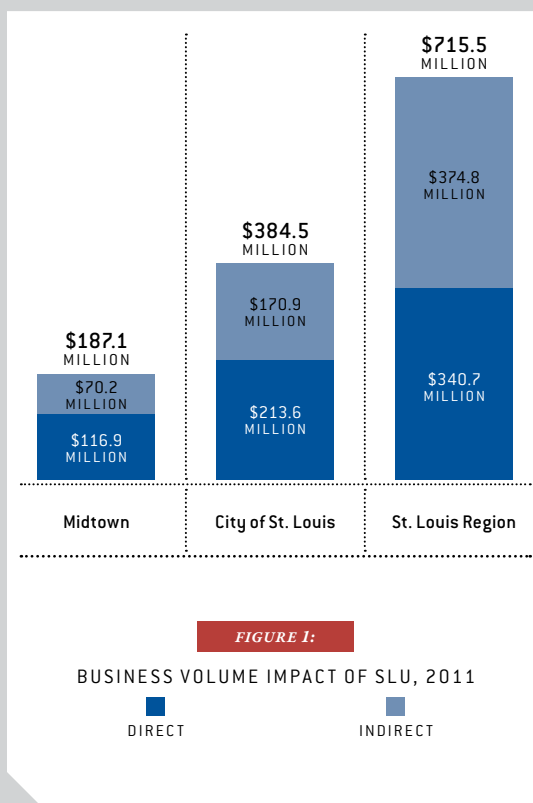

Economic impact calculations do not include dollars collected, such as tuition, revenues, fundraising activities, etc.

THE OPERATIONS OF SAINT LOUIS UNIVERSITY IN 2011 GENERATED $715.5 MILLION IN ECONOMIC IMPACT AND SUSTAINED MORE THAN 6,800 TOTAL JOBS THROUGHOUT THE ST. LOUIS METROPOLITAN REGION.

4. Caffrey, John and Isaacs, Herbert, "Estimating the Impact of a College or University on the Local Economy," American Council on Education, 1971.

5. The business volume multipliers are based on ACE's recommendations for geographic and population size. The following business volume multipliers are used in this report: Midtown = 1.6; the City of St. Louis = 1.8; and the St. Louis Metropolitan Region = 2.1.

Economic Impact: Results

People across Missouri are familiar with Saint Louis University as a provider of high quality education, research, health care and community service. Few people, however, understand the role of SLU as an engine for economic growth in the St. Louis Metropolitan Region. In 2011, the overall business volume impact of SLU's operations on the St. Louis Metropolitan Region was $715.5 million ($340.7 million direct impact and $374.8 million indirect impact). More than 6,800 full-time equivalent jobs (direct and indirect) support SLU services in the St. Louis Metropolitan Region, making the University a stable generator of employment in the region. In addition, SLU contributed $16.4 million in government revenue impact.

SAINT LOUIS UNIVERSITY IS INTEGRAL TO ST. LOUIS' ECONOMIC SUCCESS

Saint Louis University is a vital economic development partner of the City of St. Louis. As an integral part of the city's economic vitality, operations of Saint Louis University directly or indirectly impact nearly every resident of St. Louis. SLU generates $384.5 million annually in overall economic impact for the City of St. Louis, supports more than 3,000 total jobs based on where individuals reside (both directly and indirectly), and generates $12.4 million in government revenue. In turn, the University's overall economic impact accounts for more than 3 percent of the City of St. Louis' $10.7 billion economy. More than 19 percent of SLU's total expenditures for capital improvements and goods and services are allocated within the City of St. Louis.

6. Impact numbers in this table are derived from Tripp Umbach models that calculate impacts based on primary data obtained from SLU and secondary data collected by Tripp Umbach.

7. SLU employee and student spending is based on where an individual resides.

SLU GENERATES $384.5 MILLION ANNUALLY IN OVERALL ECONOMIC IMPACT FOR THE CITY OF ST. LOUIS, SUPPORTS MORE THAN 3,000 TOTAL JOBS BASED ON WHERE INDIVIDUALS RESIDE (BOTH DIRECTLY AND INDIRECTLY), AND GENERATES $12.4 MILLION IN GOVERNMENT REVENUE.

BUSINESS VOLUME IMPACT

Of particular importance in economic impact studies are the dollars that come into the study area from out-of-area spending sources. An institution such as SLU has a significant role in attracting such dollars, particularly from out-of-area visitors who come into the study area to spend.

The University's direct business volume impact comprises the following components:

A. Direct Spending for Capital Improvements and for Goods and Services

This includes University spending for facilities' improvements and capital equipment purchases made with area contractors and vendors (an average of spending over each of the previous five years was used). In addition, the category also includes the purchase of goods, services and supplies from in-area vendors. These include purchases such as laundry services, food and beverage supplies, office supplies, computer consulting, etc. In 2011, SLU spent approximately $58.3 million on capital improvements and general expenditures in the St. Louis Metropolitan Region.

B. Direct Spending by Staff

One of SLU's biggest benefits to the regional economy is its direct payroll. SLU has a combined payroll and benefits obligation to staff residing in the St. Louis Metropolitan Region of $153.9 million, with the majority of disposable income spent in the region.

C. Direct Spending by Faculty, Researchers and Physicians

The pay provided to faculty, researchers and physicians has a substantial impact on the local and regional economies. SLU has a combined payroll and benefits obligation to faculty, researchers and physicians residing in the region of $218.3 million. As above, most of the disposable income is spent in the region.

D. Direct Spending by Fellows

The spending of fellows — housing, food, supplies, entertainment and other items and services — constitutes their direct impact on the regional economy. SLU has a combined payroll and benefits obligation to fellows residing in the St. Louis Metropolitan Region of $1.9 million. Only fellows' spending in-area, off-campus is included in the impact calculations.

E. Direct Spending by Medical Residents

The spending of medical residents — housing, food, supplies, entertainment and other items and services — constitutes their direct impact on the regional economy. SLU has a combined payroll and benefits obligation to medical residents residing in the region of $31.1 million. Only medical residents' spending in-area, off-campus is included in the impact calculations.

F. Direct Spending by Students

The spending of students, outside the University — housing, food, supplies, entertainment and other items and services — constitutes the direct impact on the regional economy. Only students' spending in-area, off-campus is included in the impact calculations. In total, students' spending amounted to $73 million in impact on the regional economy in 2011.

G. Direct Spending by Conference, Sporting Event and Employee Visitors

SLU hosts numerous meetings, seminars and sporting events with a significant number of out-of-area attendees, providing a fresh influx of dollars. Additionally, SLU attracts visitors from outside the area. In 2011, these visitors generated approximately $42.9 million of impact for the St. Louis Metropolitan Regional economy.

ADDITIONAL BUSINESS IMPACTS ALLOCABLE TO SLU

Additional business impacts are not included in the impacts outlined above. The Tripp Umbach impact model calculates the two principal components of business investments as business real property development and business inventories committed to SLU-related business. These are annual, recurring impacts allocable to businesses in the area that have invested heavily to support the business volume generated by SLU. The impacts of these business investments represent the value of properties and inventories located in the study area that support SLU business.

St. Louis Metropolitan Region businesses have invested a total of $105.9 million in real property developments to support their business with SLU. Business inventories in the St. Louis Metropolitan Region allocable to SLU-related business volume are calculated at $88.7 million.

LOCAL TAXES GENERATED BY THE UNIVERSITY OR ATTRIBUTED TO UNIVERSITY GROWTH

SLU Campus Sales Taxes: From 2002 to 2011 SLU sales taxes have grown from $71,266 ($2,298,903 in taxable sales) to $151,480 ($4,886,452 in taxable sales). NOTE: These taxes exclude sales at the Medical Center.	SLU Campus Wages: From 2002 to 2011 the earnings taxes on wages have grown from $833,185 ($83,318,500 in total wages) in 2002 to $1,216,460 ($121,464,000 in total wages) in 2011.	Grand Center Sales Taxes: From 2002 to 2011, for the Grand Center District, sales taxes have grown from $734,354 (total taxable sales of $23,688,839) to $1,720,765 (total taxable sales of $55,508,548).
Grand Center Wages: From 2002 to 2011 earning taxes on wages have grown from $634,658 ($63,465,800 in total wages) to $717,357 ($71,735,700 in total wages).	Grand Center Restaurant Gross Receipts Taxes: Taxes have grown from $40,218 in 2002 to $142,466 in 2011.	SLU Restaurant Gross Receipts Taxes: Taxes have grown from $45,910 in 2002 to $55,267 in 2011.	Property Values: The Equalized Assessed Value of the real property in the Grand Center District, not including the University campus, which is exempt from property tax, has grown from $6,970,000 in 2002 to approximately $18,000,000 in 2011. ¹⁰

SAINT LOUIS UNIVERSITY SUPPORTS 6,838 TOTAL JOBS IN THE REGION; ONE OUT OF EVERY 195 JOBS IN THE ST. LOUIS METROPOLITAN REGION IS ATTRIBUTABLE TO SLU.

8. According to St. Louis City tax records, approximately $605,000 in earnings and sales tax was paid directly by SLU to the City of St. Louis ($302,500 stayed with the City, and $302,500 went to the special TIF account, used solely for economic development.) Direct tax payments are paid by SLU directly to a unit of government. Indirect tax payments are calculated based on the amount of business volume generated by the in-area spending of SLU and the spending of SLU employees and visitors. Indirect taxes include those taxes paid by employees of the institution, visitors to the institution and vendors who sell products to the institution.

9. The geographies used in this study do not represent specific governmental taxing boundaries.

Economic Impact: Tax Contributions

SLU is an important contributor to the local tax base. For 2011, the spending from SLU operations and the spending of SLU employees, students and visitors generated a total of $12.4 million in government revenue for the City of St. Louis ($5.5 million in direct taxes and $6.9 million in indirect taxes).⁸ Stated another way, $1 in every $36 in the city's General Fund Budget is generated by Saint Louis University.

As a private university, Saint Louis University generates substantial tax revenue for the City of St. Louis through local spending, as well as direct and indirect support of jobs. In turn, the presence of the University stabilizes and strengthens the local tax base and is an important part of the region's economy – generating revenue, jobs and spending.⁹

11. Direct job totals for the region are based on the number of SLU employees residing in this region.

SAINT LOUIS UNIVERSITY GENERATES AND SUSTAINS JOBS IN THE ST. LOUIS METROPOLITAN REGION

Saint Louis University supports 6,838 total jobs in the region; one out of every 195 jobs in the St. Louis Metropolitan Region is attributable to SLU. The total number of jobs includes 4,022 direct SLU jobs and 2,816 indirect jobs.¹¹ These include full-time and part-time positions. The indirect jobs, which support the University's business and visitors, include: supply and equipment vendors; information technology vendors; security and temporary employment workers; contractors and laborers for the construction and renovation of University facilities; and employees of hotels, restaurants and retail businesses.

Economic Impact: Research

SLU's internationally recognized faculty researchers play a pivotal role in many groundbreaking discoveries in a broad variety of disciplines.

In FY 2011, Saint Louis University earned $61 million in total grants, contracts and subcontracts for research and other sponsored programs. This funding, which is an indicator of research activity and research growth, is received by numerous departments and colleges throughout the SLU system. These research dollars enter the St. Louis economy through various agencies, including the National Institutes of Health, National Science Foundation, Centers for Disease Control, and private industry and foundations.

The impact of research spending for the University is already included in the $715.5 million in economic impact on the St. Louis Metropolitan Region. It is critical to note that the majority of the research dollars that SLU brings into the region are dollars from outside the area — meaning that because of the quality of its faculty researchers and strength of its programs, SLU is attracting out-of-area dollars to St. Louis. Saint Louis University competes nationally for these dollars against its peer institutions to fund the research enterprise. SLU's receipt of research funds year after year is a tribute to the exceptional quality of its diverse and innovative faculty researchers, students and staff, and to the power of Saint Louis University's intellectual community.

In 2011, SLU's grants, contracts and subcontracts generated significant economic impact for the St. Louis region. As a result of the University's strong research programs and expenditures on research, study author Tripp Umbach estimates the 2011 economic impact generated by the research enterprise at $107 million ($37 million direct impact in the St. Louis region and $70 million indirectly; see Figure 4). As SLU's research expenditures grow as a result of increased research funding, the impact of research spending will also continue to grow.

In 2007, Saint Louis University opened its new medical research facility, the Edward A. Doisy Research Center. This $82 million, cutting-edge, 206,000-square-foot building is another step in the University's revitalization of Midtown, where SLU has invested more than $850 million during the past two decades.

TRANSFORMING RESEARCH INTO REALITY

Saint Louis University facilitates the transformation of research discoveries and innovations into commercially viable products that will improve the lives of residents in the region and around the world. The University works to protect the rights of investors and the University via patents, copyrights and/or trademarks, to meet the University's intellectual property obligations to research sponsors and to assist entrepreneurs in creating startup companies.

Economic Impact: Heart of the City

SLU's total impact on the City of St. Louis goes beyond its annual operations. Studies often capture only the impact that can be assigned a quantitative value; however, the qualitative impact of the University goes far beyond its $384.5 million annual economic impact on the City of St. Louis. SLU provides access to knowledgeable faculty, arts and cultural activities, top-tier medical care and education, research libraries and educates a highly skilled future work force. While a dollar amount is difficult to assign, it can be said that the lives of St. Louis residents are significantly enhanced by Saint Louis University's presence on a daily basis.

SAINT LOUIS UNIVERSITY EDUCATES THE FUTURE WORK FORCE OF THE ST. LOUIS METROPOLITAN REGION

More than 3,000 well-educated students graduate every year from the University. These students are the essential human capital needed to keep the work force strong in the region and around the world. It is estimated that approximately 49 percent of SLU graduates stay in the region and contribute to the regional economy.

The contributions of Saint Louis University graduates are critically important to the economic vitality of the St. Louis region. SLU attracts talented, bright students in a wide range of disciplines. There are currently more than 114,000 SLU alumni living in the United States and in 139 countries around the world, with approximately 50,933 SLU alumni living in the St. Louis Metropolitan Region. On a regional level, SLU alumni contribute to the work force as physicians, educators, researchers, accountants, nurses, entrepreneurs, engineers and other professions.

About half of SLU students are from outside the region, and fewer than one percent are from Midtown, meaning nearly all student spending represents fresh dollars coming into the center of the city. SLU students contribute $73 million annually to the region through off-campus spending on housing and non-housing items.

In 2011, 90 of the 170 physicians who completed their training and entered the work force began practicing in the St. Louis Metropolitan Region. Those physicians' economic impact equals $135 million, which is in addition to the annual economic impact of SLU. Additionally, these physicians in training support another 700 jobs, as each physician generates employment for approximately eight other health care professionals and support personnel.

Approximately 15 SLU physicians each year enter their careers as primary care physicians in underserved neighborhoods within the region. These physicians provide more than $54 million in free health care and health care cost savings due to lower emergency room utilization and provision of early stage care.

SAINT LOUIS UNIVERSITY ALUMNI PLAY A VITAL ROLE IN THE ST. LOUIS METROPOLITAN REGION ECONOMY

By graduating well-educated, community-minded students, SLU increases the breadth of human capital in the region and beyond. By obtaining a degree from Saint Louis University, a graduate's value, productivity and earning potential in the job market increases greatly. Based on 2010 from the U.S. Department of Commerce's Bureau of Economic Analysis, the median annual earnings for a bachelor's degree equaled approximately $45,000, compared to a high school graduate's earnings of $30,000. In turn, a graduate degree increases annual earnings to $60,000. Over a 40-year career, the total lifetime incremental difference between a college degree and a high school diploma is more than $800,000.

The 3,207 degrees awarded by Saint Louis University in academic year 2010-11 equal approximately $2.7 billion of future value over 40 years. Even when adjusted to 80 percent allowing for future periods of unemployment, and other absence from the labor force, the value created is still nearly $2.2 billion annually.

IN 2011, UNIVERSITY EMPLOYEES AND ENROLLED STUDENTS GENERATED A TOTAL OF $26.3 MILLION IN DONATIONS AND VOLUNTEER SERVICES; $14.8 MILLION IN CASH TO LOCAL CHARITABLE ORGANIZATIONS AND $11.5 MILLION IN VALUE OF VOLUNTEER SERVICES.

12. Tripp Umbach used a conservative hourly rate of $15 per hour for employees and $8 per hour for students to calculate the value of volunteer services.

SAINT LOUIS UNIVERSITY IS AN IMPORTANT TOURISM GENERATOR IN THE CITY OF ST. LOUIS

Campus Visitors

Visitors to the University in 2011 generated $20.9 million for the City of St. Louis.

Medical Visitors

Approximately 500,000 unique patient visits occurred in 2011 as patients sought the expertise of SLU physicians. Approximately 5,000 visits required at least one overnight stay. In addition, 1,400 medical students, residents and fellows come to the City of St. Louis annually from outside the area to live in non-campus housing in Midtown.

Sports and Events

Saint Louis University hosts more than 160 sporting events each year with sports teams from outside the region. The average visiting sports team travels with 25 individuals and varying numbers of supporters and fans.

In addition, 5 percent of the 200,000 individuals who attend a SLU-sponsored sporting event at Chaifetz Arena will stay one night in an area hotel. As a result, 10,000 overnight stays are generated with $250 per person spent on lodging, food, souvenirs, gasoline, etc.

SAINT LOUIS UNIVERSITY AND ITS POPULATION CONTRIBUTE TO THE COMMUNITY

Volunteerism

In 2011, University employees and enrolled students generated a total of $26.3 million in donations and volunteer services; $14.8 million in cash to local charitable organizations and $11.5 million in value of volunteer services.¹² Based on SLU's "Beyond the Classroom" survey, it is estimated that more than one million hours of community service are given annually by faculty, staff and students to more than 1,800 organizations, events and individuals in need.

With more than 84 percent of the entire student body volunteering annually, the spirit of giving to the community is inherently part of the University's identity and has shaped the student culture. Almost half of all SLU students serve the community in some capacity at least twice per month. In "Beyond the Classroom," prepared by the office of institutional research, many students mentioned the strong relationships they have formed with the community through their service, and the majority of students indicated that they prefer the ongoing service opportunities. Though not a course requirement, more than half of the student body surveyed engaged in community service. As a result, SLU volunteerism (84 percent) is much higher than the national average (60 percent).

It is believed that community service provides high-impact experiential education opportunities. In fact, 48 of 84 University departments reported that they offered community outreach opportunities to students through department courses. Whether through classroom-related experiences or outside organizations, volunteer service is an avenue by which SLU students grow, learn and develop — and the whole community benefits.

COMMUNITY OUTREACH AND SERVICES PROVIDED THROUGH SAINT LOUIS UNIVERSITY

The Cancer Information Center participates in more than 90 community and employer-sponsored health fairs, and collaborates with other St. Louis cancer agencies and events such as American Cancer Society's Relay for Life, Prostate Cancer Awareness Walk and other community programs.

Students from the School of Law provide approximately $3.9 million in free legal consultation annually to the public. Approximately 290 law students contribute 39,000 hours handling hundreds of cases and offering free legal advice to the community.

The Speech-Hearing-Language Clinic provides high quality hearing and speech services to individuals regardless of ability to pay. This service improves the quality of life for individuals with hearing and speech disorders.

Approximately 500 faculty members provide free consulting services at an average commercial value of $125 per hour. Approximately 600 students volunteer their time at an average commercial value of $75 per hour.

Some of the University's campus facilities and services provide value to the City of St. Louis, including the role of campus security, improvements to the streetscapes and the development of the Medical Center Stadium.

Since 1994, the Health Resource Center, sponsored by SLU's second-year medical students, has provided free health services to 1,000 patients annually. The estimated annual value of these health care visits is $200,000.

More than two years ago Saint Louis University helped establish Casa de Salud, a health and wellness center for new immigrants in St. Louis. This 7,500 square foot facility is staffed by 15 paid employees, dozens of undergraduate and graduate volunteers from the University and another area university, as well as more than 100 volunteer physicians, nurses and community members. Casa de Salud delivers high quality basic health and wellness services for 5,000 uninsured and underinsured new immigrants annually.

ADDITIONAL OUTREACH AND SERVICES PROVIDED THROUGH SAINT LOUIS UNIVERSITY

$12.1 million in taxes paid by Saint Louis University Hospital

$13.1 million in charity care provided by SLU Medical Center

$14.8 million donated to local charitable organizations by SLU employees and students based on data collected by Tripp Umbach on national norms

$11.5 million in value of volunteer time provided to area organizations by SLU employees and students

ENTREPRENEURSHIP

The John Cook School of Business Institute for Private Business provides expertise and capital to firms that show promise in making a difference in the St. Louis economy and the region. Established in 2008, the Billiken Angels Network (BAN) provides $1 million in University matching funds with angel investors to support student companies. The primary goal of the network is to make a difference through education and advice to current and future business people in the region.

PHILANTHROPY PROGRAMS

2011 School Supply Drive: SLU faculty, staff and students provided more than 20,000 school supplies to KidSmart and SLU's three sponsored charter schools. ECONOMIC IMPACT: $16,720

Christmas at SLU/Toy Drive: More than 2,000 toys were collected during the annual drive and distributed to community centers and women's shelters. Gifts also were given to more than 150 children at the annual Christmas at SLU holiday party for underprivileged children. ECONOMIC IMPACT: $23,500

Clothing and Toiletry Drive: More than 1,000 items of clothing and 2,700 toiletries were collected during the annual Clothing and Toiletry Drive. Items were provided to guests at SLU Open Doors (to the right). ECONOMIC IMPACT: $5,250

Relay For Life: The SLU chapter of Relay For Life raised more than $165,000 for the American Cancer Society during its April event.

Dance Marathon: The SLU chapter of Dance Marathon raised more than $32,000 for the Children's Miracle Network of Greater St. Louis during its event in November.

SERVICE PROGRAMS

Open Doors: The University's Open Doors event provided nearly 400 individuals experiencing homelessness with a hot meal, access to clothing and toiletries, and most importantly, connections to 24 social service agencies in the area.

192 individuals received medical screenings and/or mental health counseling.	226 individuals were connected to continuing education opportunities.	40 individuals were provided information on or signed up for Social Security benefits, food stamps, Medicare/Medicaid benefits, and other valuable services.
52 individuals received free legal counseling from SLU's Law Clinic.	240 individuals received information on or were provided direct assistance with temporary or transitional housing.	ECONOMIC IMPACT: $89,800

The Campus Kitchen Project: For more than 10 years, Campus Kitchen has served meals to the St. Louis community through an innovative outreach program to combat hunger. In 2011, this on-campus kitchen recovered 77,868 pounds of food from campus dining facilities and local grocers and cooked and delivered 41,297 meals to individuals in need. This Campus Kitchen location, the first in the nation outside of the Washington, D.C., headquarters, provided 960 hours of job training and support to individuals looking for employment through its Culinary Job Training program. Ten individuals were connected to full-time employment through the program. Finally, through the Healthy Eating Initiative, more than 800 children were given lessons on healthy eating habits. ECONOMIC IMPACT: $444,728

Collegiate Honors Preparatory Program: Each week SLU pre-med students tutor students from nearby underserved high schools providing assistance with ACT preparation, FAFSA (Free Application for Federal Student Aid) completion and college applications. Twenty-three high school students participated, each receiving 60 hours of ACT preparation. ECONOMIC IMPACT: $74,750

Social Justice Computer Program: Through this unique, first-year program, SLU business students refurbished donated computers and donated them to local after-school programs. Altogether, 10 students spent more than 60 hours refurbishing one dozen computers. ECONOMIC IMPACT: $18,400

Readers 2 Leaders Program: This reading and life-skill-building program is offered through SLU's Center for Service and Community Engagement at De La Salle Middle School. More than 50 hours of professional curriculum-building were provided to implement the reading program. ECONOMIC IMPACT: $2,650

SAINT LOUIS UNIVERSITY AND FUTURE ECONOMIC BENEFITS TO THE REGION

The preceding study examined Saint Louis University's economic impact on the St. Louis Metropolitan Region during the course of one fiscal year.

But SLU has been making an impact for 195 years — longer than any other institution of higher education west of the Mississippi River.

As this report attests, Saint Louis University continues to stand as a beacon for progress and stability, but SLU isn't resting on its laurels or achievements.

For example, in 2013 the University will move its nationally ranked School of Law into downtown St. Louis — a historic move that has been widely heralded by city officials and civic leaders.

With more than 1,100 law students, faculty and staff, the move will make SLU the largest educational institution in the city's downtown. It also represents another major economic investment in the region.

Construction has begun to turn a donated building into the Joe and Loretta Scott Law Center. In addition to constructing modern classrooms, a courtroom and study spaces, SLU is literally raising the roof on the building by adding a 12th floor and a rooftop terrace.

Of course, Saint Louis University's reach extends far beyond the St. Louis Metropolitan Region. SLU's world-renowned faculty and researchers are advancing the field of knowledge and tackling global challenges on many fronts. And the University's free-standing campus in Madrid, Spain, continues to set the standard for an American education in Europe.

To strengthen its commitment to preparing students to be leaders in an increasingly global world, the University also is moving forward with the development of a new Center for Global Citizenship. Housed in two historic buildings located in the heart of SLU's St. Louis campus, the center will be home of all of the University's international student support services and will include a new student commons, a high-tech 1,000-seat auditorium and a host of globally focused academic and cultural programs.

For all of its advances, one thing remains constant as Saint Louis University approaches its 200th year: SLU continues to be guided by a Catholic, Jesuit mission that values and promotes academic excellence, student-centered learning, life-changing research, spiritual formation, and a strong commitment to service and social justice.

METHODOLOGY EMPLOYED IN THE ECONOMIC IMPACT STUDY

Tripp Umbach has performed more than 150 economic impact studies for academic institutions and large health care systems. The methodology employed in these studies, which measures the effect of both direct and indirect business volume and government revenue impacts, is originally derived from a standard set of research tools and techniques developed by the American Council on Education (ACE) for the measurement of an institution's economic impact. The ACE-based methodology employs linear cash flow modeling to track the flow of institution-originated funds through a delineated spatial area. The ACE-based methodology is well established, having been used in hundreds of studies throughout the United States. For the SLU impact analysis, computerized spreadsheet models were developed to calculate the business volume and government revenue impact of the University at the Midtown, City of St. Louis and St. Louis Metropolitan Region levels. The impact models provide measures of business volume and government revenues allocable to an institution, together with breakouts of the individual categories of spending that comprise the total impact (e.g., institutional capital spending, student spending, faculty spending, etc.).

“I was able to apply the knowledge I have gained in the classroom through hands-on immersion into the Appalachian culture during my public health mission trip.”

Nebu Kolenchery

NEBU KOLENCHERY
PUBLIC HEALTH MAJOR
SCHOLARSHIP RECIPIENT

Saint Louis University students dream big. Kerry wants to be a pediatric nurse. Jasmine hopes to design aircraft. Michael aspires to become a doctor. Nebu plans to help give a voice to those in developing countries.

And donors help make those dreams come true.

In many cases, the cost of higher education represents one of the largest investments a family or individual will make in a lifetime.

Choosing a university often requires students to weigh factors beyond their dreams, hopes and goals. Too many times, available financial resources are the greatest factor a student must consider when choosing an institution of higher learning.

By investing in scholarships, donors ensure that every deserving student has the opportunity to receive a Saint Louis University education. More than 86 percent of all SLU students receive some form of financial assistance. Thus, every gift is a sound investment that inspires students to excel in their academic pursuits and live the Jesuit ideal of service for others.

On the following pages, are the names of Saint Louis University's most generous benefactors. Their gifts support not only scholarships, but also innovative academic programs, faculty research, campus improvements, athletics initiatives and much, much more.

For more information about investing in scholarships or any other giving opportunities at Saint Louis University, send an email message to stewardship@slu.edu or call 314-977-2621.

SAINT LOUIS UNIVERSITY Honor Roll of Donors

DUBOURG SOCIETY

The DuBourg Society recognizes Saint Louis University's past and present major contributors by publicly acknowledging their lifelong commitment of generosity to the University. The society recognizes donors who have given $100,000 or more to SLU throughout their lives.

It is named for Bishop Louis William DuBourg, who opened Saint Louis Academy in November 1818.

DuBourg looked beyond the developing frontier and visualized what St. Louis was destined to become. The academy became Saint Louis College in 1820 and was chartered as Saint Louis University in 1832.

A native of Santo Domingo in the Caribbean and educated in France, DuBourg had been ordained a Catholic priest and had served as President of Georgetown University in Washington, D.C., before he was named Bishop of Louisiana and the Floridas and subsequently founded SLU.

Special thanks to all of the alumni, friends, parents, students, faculty, staff and corporations whose annual contributions support Saint Louis University. This Honor Roll includes donors who support the University annually with gifts of $2,500 or more. It also recognizes donors with lifetime giving of $100,000 or more, as well as those donors who have remembered Saint Louis University in their estate plans.

Special thanks also for the generous support and commitment of SLU donors who wish to remain anonymous. The University is immensely grateful for their continued support. Though anonymous to others, their generosity will always be remembered.

Every effort was made to ensure accurate information. If, however, you discover an error, please call the stewardship office at 314-977-2621 or send an email message to PresidentsCircle@slu.edu.

PRESIDENT'S CIRCLE

The President's Circle Annual Giving Society honors the donors who support Saint Louis University with leadership gifts of $2,500 or more each year. This select community of donors sets the pace for advancing the University's mission of excellence in teaching, research and service to the community through their generosity.

Members of the President's Circle can support scholarships; faculty development and research; programming; campus enhancements, including classroom and laboratory space improvements; and community involvement.

AVAILABLE SCHOLARSHIPS TO SLU STUDENTS

ENDOWED SCHOLARSHIP FUNDS:

$109.1 MILLION

These funds are established and named by individual donors and invested in the University's endowment to provide perpetual assistance to SLU students. A portion of each fund's earnings is used to finance student scholarship awards.

ANNUAL (NON-ENDOWED) SCHOLARSHIP FUNDS:

$7.72 MILLION

These funds are established and named by individual donors for immediate use by the University.

As a non-endowed fund, these scholarships are available to be fully expended within the first year of their establishment.

1818 SOCIETY

The 1818 Society honors alumni and friends who have invested in Saint Louis University's future through planned gifts. These gifts include bequest provisions in a will or trust, life income arrangements, lead trusts, life estates, gifts of life insurance and beneficiary designations made with retirement assets or insurance policies.

The 1818 Society is named for the year of Saint Louis University's founding as the first university west of the Mississippi River. It reflects the important legacy of planned giving donors and the historical impact they have on the University.

GIVING TO SAINT LOUIS UNIVERSITY

Gifts to the University are made in many forms. Each is an investment in the most precious asset of all — the intellectual growth of the leaders of tomorrow. Saint Louis University's giving societies honor men and women who offer significant financial support to the University. Such support includes immediate contributions of cash, securities or other property, as well as irrevocable planned gifts through charitable gift annuities, charitable remainder trusts, charitable lead trusts, life insurance or high-yield investments.

While the primary purpose of SLU's giving societies is to honor the University's major contributors, they also encourage greater commitment by an even larger group of individuals. Hence, they do more than just recognize past achievement; they also serve to stimulate additional leadership support for the future.

Dr. Cheryl Cavallo (Doisy '68, Grad '88, '00), assistant professor emerita of physical therapy, died Feb. 24. She was 66. Dr. Cavallo was a member of the faculty for 32 years, retiring in 2011. During her tenure, she received the Nancy McNeir Ring Award, SLU's highest honor for teaching excellence; the 2011 Doisy College of Health Sciences Alumni Merit Award; and 2011 SLU Woman of the Year award. Dr. Cavallo served on multiple University committees and task forces, and she was the faculty adviser to the Physical Therapy Student Council. She also provided pro bono physical therapy services for patients in the metropolitan St. Louis area and in Haiti and El Salvador.

Richard Dunphy, S.J. (A&S '75), former head of mission and ministry, died Dec. 12. He was 71. In 1973 he joined SLU's formation team for Jesuit scholastics. In 1983, he became a staff chaplain at SLU Hospital and served as an adjunct faculty member in SLU's department of theological studies. From 1988 to 1993, he was the assistant to the president for University mission. After a short time at the Gregorian University in Rome, Father Dunphy returned to SLU as assistant vice president of mission and ministry, where he served until 1997.

Prof. Benjamin H. Ulrich, a professor emeritus from Parks College of Engineering, Aviation and Technology, died Jan. 11. He was 90. Prof. Ulrich joined the SLU faculty in 1966 and taught courses in general aeronautics, structural analysis, and helicopter theory and performance. He served as chairman of the department of aerospace engineering from 1966 to 1978. He retired as professor emeritus in 1987. Prof. Ulrich also was a retired U.S. Navy Commander, serving in World War II and in the Naval Reserve.

Dr. Corinne Walentik (A&S '70, Med '74, PH '92), professor at the School of Medicine, died Dec. 6. She was 63. During her 36 years at SLU, Dr. Walentik held several academic positions. Most recently, she was the professor of pediatrics in the division of neonatal-perinatal medicine and physician executive for managed care and public policy at SSM Cardinal Glennon Children's Medical Center. She was the recipient of numerous awards and was known as a passionate advocate for babies and families.
